an excise arrest. He found Heyne, the bartender, serving drinks to six customers in front of the bar. Bush says that when he told Heyne he was his prisoner Heyne began to curse him and struck him in the face. The two other defendants came to the bartender's assistance and assaulted the policeman. Policeman Borst, who was in front of the saloon, put is an appearance. Both policemen were badly beaten. Bush's face was bruised and his new suit was torn. Borst was in uniform. Three buttons were torn from his coat and his watch was broken in the struggle. The three men were held for trial. Heyne was also held on an additional charge of violating the excise law.

Policeman Leonard, of the Delancey street station, arraigned two prisoners in the same court. They were grocery clerk Max Cohen, of 147 Rivington street, and Saloon-Keeper Newman Frankel, of 25 Division street.

The policeman testified very strongly against the grocery clerk, who sold him two boxes of matches for one cent, but in the saloon case he evidently believed that his prisoner would be discharged, as he made no affidavit against him.

"I went into the saloon shortly after so clock last night," said he, "and found five people in the place. I saw nothing sold, offered for sale or given away. The saloon-keeper told me the people were friends of his who were paying him a visit."

"Step down, officer." said the Justice, "Step down, officer." said the Justice, and prisoner would be discharged as shot at Moran which may have caused this death, was sent to the City Prison pending the Coroner's inquest, which was set down for June 28, at 10.30 o'clock.

Policeman Devine told Coroner Dobbs that when he found Moran on the bed apparently dying, Moran managed to say: "Tim shot in the back. Barney Fitz-simmons was exonerated by Coroner Dobbs.

The Coroner expressed much sympathy for Curtis to-day. The young man, who is engaged to Annie Moran, bears the best possible reputation among his acquaintances.

Policeman Devine told on the City Prison pending the Coroner Pobbs that when he found Moran on the City Prison pending the Coroner Pobbs that the found Moran on the City Prison pen friends of his who were paying him a visit."

"Step down, officer," said the Justice.
"and make your complaint. There is senough evidence before me to hold the saloon-keeper for trial." The policeman looked surprised.

Foliceman Stringer, of the Union Market station, had two prisoners in Essex Court this morning charged with violating the Excise law. They were both discharged. For the past year Stringer has arrested one or more saloon-keepers every Sunday, but they have always been discharged. The policeman had secured so little evidence against them that it was wondered why he made the arrests. These are the arrests that tire some of the Justices.

These saloon-keepers were held in Essex Court in default of $100, to answer for violation of the Excise law:

William H. Hamilton, of 133 Broome street; Robert Peters, of 55 Montgomery street; John Lang, of 224 Madison street; Carl Woelky, of 106 Forsyth street; Charles Himberg, of 125 Bowery; Abraham Feldenkrig, of 114 Delancey street; Adolph Kneits, of 54 Second avenue; Morris Bernstein, of 27 Ludlow street, and Christian Knuth, of 46 Division street.

The largest number of Excise viola-and Christian Knuth, of 46 Division street.

The largest number of Excise violators ever arraigned in Harlem Court was disposed of by Justice Welde this morning. There were forty-nine saloon-keepers and bartenders arraigned. Of these forty were held for trial and nine were discharged. Two were arrested in Capt. Meakim's, four in Capt. Killilea's, eight in Capt. Brooks's, fourteen in Capt. Westervelt's and nineteen in Capt. Pickett's.

There were eighteen excise arraign.

A YOUNG ROBBER CAUGHT.

Coffee "Stood Up" a Man on the Street, and Bent His Mother. Edward Coffee, aged nineteen years, o 26 East Fortieth street, was arraigned at Yorkville Police Court this morning charged with highway robbery and assault. The first complaint was made by Harvey McKim. of 326 East Forty-second street, while the latter charge was made by Coffee's mother.

Coffee is a typical tough, who, notwith-standing his youthfulness, has frequently been arrested for drunkenness and other offenses. McKim, while walking through East Forty-second street early Sunday morning, was "stood up" by young Coffee and three other toughs and robbed of his coat, vest and shoes and 33. Coffee took off his own clothing and gave them away, putting on the clothes taken from McKim.

The money was equally divided among the members of the gang, who spent it in "working the growler."

At 6 A. M. Coffee appeared at his home drunk. On finding the family still in hed he began to swear, and assaulted his mother, sister and younger brother. Policeman Stewart, of the East Thirty-fith street squad, arrested the young ruffian. He was committed for trial on both Policeman McConville was getting evidence in the saloon at 250 Tenth avenue yesterday when Patrick McCann tried to eject him. McCann was sent to the island for one month for resisting an officer.

About 10 o'clock last night McConville went to arrest Bernard Efinger, who keeps a saloon at 56 Ninth avenue. Efinger sold him a glass of beer, and when the policeman told the proprietor to come with him Efinger struck McConville heavily on the neck. The Raphael Athletic Club expects to win some of the events at the Archdiocesan Union games with the following men: J. Wilson, J. Higgins and McCarthy. They will run in the mile and half-mile races. . . .

At a meeting of Holy Cross Lyceum Committee, it was decided to hold a set of members games on the excursion of the Club, which takes place on July 19. Billy Murray, the west side fighter, will leave for Chicago next week, to make arrangements for a finish tight with Jack Barry, the Chicago bantam-weight fighter.

George Siddons has added another draw to his record. He met Frank Erne, who got a decision over him last Winter, Saturday night, in the Buffalo Academy of Music. The contest was for ten rounds.

The meeting of Bob Fitzsimmons and Joe Choynski in the Boston Theatre to-night is regarded as among the important glove contests of the year. A number of New Yorkers have gone on to see the bout, and sentiment is about equally divided as to the merits of the men. Although the Californian and Lanky Bob have never met in an encounter, they have battled against the same men, and all sorts of "lines" are figured out of the results of these encounters. The manner in which Bob put Jim Hall to sleep is taken as an indication of the long fellow's superiority, as it is claimed that Hall was at least a match for Choynski. While Fitz was training for the Maher bout, at Eay St. Louis. Joe frequently sparred with him. To-night's battle will be limited to eight rounds, the winner to take 75 per cent. of the net receipts.

The twenty-seventh annual regatta of the Columbia Yacht Club will be sailed on Thursday, starting from a stakeboat off the club-house at Eighty-sixth street. North River at 10.30 A. M. The start will be a flying one, and the course is to Yonkers and feturn. Forty-one yachts are entered in the various classes.

Open regattas will be held on Saturday next by the Seawanhaka Corinthian and Douglaston Yacht Clubs. Both will be over Sound Courses. The Seawanhaka offers a special prize for 21-footers. The meeting of the Hariem Regatta Association Committee to consider charges against men not properly entered on Memorial Day will be held next Friday evening in the Wyanoke Boat Club house.

The bleycle races are to be one mile and two miles, handleaps, open to riders in Class A, and a two-mile scratch race for residents in Hudson County only, and a team race between teams from the Garfield A. C. and the Greenville Wheelmen. Among the tennis players great interest is being taken in the tennis tournament, comprising men's singles and doubles. The finals will be played on the afternoon of the Fourth, and handsome prizes will be given to first man and runner-up. The final event will be a baseball game between the New Jersey A. C., champions of the Amateur League, and a team from the Jersey City A. C., of Jersey City.

Mr. Raymond will also referee the other races, and will hold the watch on John S. Mathematical reasoning and figuring on records help wonderfully to shove the New Yorks right along to the top notch. Form figuring is all right, but when one runs across records which show New York as defeating a good when one runs across records which show New York as defeating a good strong team twice in three games, while that team flails a club which afterwards petrifies the Giants, then "form" must be relegated to the bench. The New Yorks have played a powerful sight her. Yorks have played a powerful sight her. be relegated to the bench. The New Yorks have played a powerful sight better ball against the really strong clubs than when they have met the "soft marks." That is one of the vagaries of the game. This week is bound to be a hard one for Capt. Ward and his fellows. To-day, to-morrow and Wednesday they meet the Philadelphias at the Polo Grounds, and the last three days of the week will be devoted to tackling Brooklyn. The Phillies have heretofore been the bete noir of the New Yorks, the latter having succeeded in winning but one game in six against the Quakers. As for Brooklyn, the Giants have won three in four games, but since these were played the Bridegrooms have improved marvellously, and they will not be the easy "graft" of a few weeks ago. The current week also sees the wind-up of the series in the East. New York will leave for St. Louis next Saturday, opening their first Western series in that city a week hence.

"The Evening World" has intimated

Every-day racing has taken away the hurrah-boys feeling which generally surrounds the Suburban Handicap. The lessening of the value of the stakes also has had something to do with it, and he fact that nearly all of the candidates have been seen in public makes it less inferesting than the Brooklyn, which is attended by more or less mystery. Nevertheless, the Suburban is bound to be a grand race, with Sir Walter, Ramapo, Henry of Navarre, Lamplighter and Clifford at the post fit and well. Sir Walter and Ramapo seem to have the race between them, though if Clifford is as good as claimed he will be a contending factor.

that city a week hence,

"The Evening World" has intimated that Treasurer Talcott had his eye on Breitenstein, the St. Louis effects especially anxious that "Breit" be engaged for New York, if it be possible. Von der Ah. ...ad been offered $9,000 for the south paw twirler, it wouldn't be surprising if $5t. Louis officials accepted this offer, and like enough Breitenstein may soon be seen in the box for New York. The latter needs a pitcher badly. Rusie and Meckin are doing the bulk of the work, and for some good reason, Capt. Ward doesn't feel as though he should take too many chances with young Westervelt or Clarke. That is why a thoroughly seasoned old professional pitcher, such as Breitenstein is, needs be added to the staff of the Glants.

A novel accident in baseball happened Saturday at Eastern Park on the first ball pitched. Childs put his bat lightly against it and let go his hold on the bat handle. Bat and ball dropped straight down, the stick falling across the plate in just the proper place to compel the sphere to remain in fair ground. It was a hit, and the Cleveland second baseman reached first safely.

Later in the same game there was another incident, which, while painful to two players, was certainly ludicrous to those who did not suffer. Childs was the victim of a pitched ball, which thumped against his short ribs. Ewing ran bases for him and started to steal second. Kinslow threw to catch him, and did so, but in a novel manner. The ball struck Umpire Emsile lightly and caromed down, catching Buck in the neck as he reached the base.

The Brooklyn team left for Washing-ton yesterday in excellent shape for three straight from the Senators. They have done it before. Kennedy is the favorite Brooklyn pitcher, and has captured the bleachers to such an extent that they how for him whenever a visiting batsman makes a hit off any other pitcher.

New York and Brooklyn both occupy the same relative positions in the batting percentage column as they do in the percentage of games won, viz., respectively seventh and fifth. Philadelphia heads the batting and fielding percentages, with Baltimore second in Batting and Cincinnati second in Reiding. Delehanty, of Philadelphia leads the League in batting. Jack Doyle leads the New York team. This is according to figures compile to June 14.
